Herefordshire and Worcestershire Health and Care NHS Trust procures Miya Flow

- Agreement signed with Herefordshire and Worcestershire Health and Care NHS Trust to implement Miya Flow
- Total Contract Value (TCV) of $1.35M over 5 years
- First NHS community trust to procure Alcidion's flow technology, following impact seen in acute hospitals through improved visibility for staff enabling timely care for patients

Melbourne, Victoria – Alcidion Group Limited (ASX:ALC) today advises that it has signed a 5 year agreement with Herefordshire and Worcestershire Health and Care NHS Trust to implement the Miya Flow module of Miya Precision. The NHS trust is the first community trust to procure Alcidion's flow technology which will enable community hospitals across Worcestershire to streamline patient journeys, ensure timely care and discharge, and more easily and efficiently manage beds across multiple sites.

The system will provide staff with the information to help manage the flow of patients via interactive electronic journey boards across six community hospitals. Staff will use the Miya Flow journey boards to effectively manage and co-ordinate patient care. They will also have real-time knowledge of bed capacity, gaining early visibility of incoming patients with clinical context. Miya Flow will integrate with existing systems in the trust to allow staff to seamlessly view information when needed and allow specialties, such as pharmacy or occupational therapy, to more easily review which patients require focus.

The trust is one of England's mental health global digital exemplars, providing a range of physical and mental health services to patients across Herefordshire and Worcestershire via community hospitals, mental health recovery units and patients' homes.

Lisa Yates, Deputy Chief Information Officer, Herefordshire and Worcestershire Health and Care NHS Trust, said: "Introducing Miya Flow will make a big difference to our healthcare professionals in delivering care and enabling effective discharge pathways. It will provide ward staff, bed managers and specialist clinical teams with information at a glance to help them get patients to the right place in their care journey without delay".

"Rather than recording information on isolated systems, logging in and out of different screens, and spending time phoning wards at different times of the day to understand bed capacity, our staff will have all the information they need at a glance to find the right beds for patients quickly. Healthcare teams will also be able to see more easily which patients need their attention and will be able to plan their time and resources more efficiently."

Kate Quirke, CEO for Alcidion, said: "Herefordshire and Worcestershire Health and Care NHS Trust has a strong reputation as a digital exemplar. We have seen that the trust has a real appetite for technology that can make the lives of healthcare professionals easier. That resonates strongly with Alcidion. As the NHS continues to deploy technology at pace, it is important to continue to listen to what clinical teams need. We look forward to working with this trust to demonstrate the value that Miya Precision can bring to the community and mental health sector."
